Photographs are, as everyone knows, part of everyday life. This wide ranging and innovative course will give you the opportunity to engage with the language of photography via a series of assignments specifically written to broaden your outlook. The list of potential subjects is almost endless, as are the learning prospects on this course.

You will explore the full range of darkroom and digital techniques (including moving image and camera-less photography), giving a thorough understanding of the possibilities of their uses. Alongside a technical understanding, research and experimentation is greatly encouraged. Students will also explore the work of both commercial and fine art photographers, typically, through educational visits and visiting photographers.

* If you do not have Maths and/or English at grade C/4, you will be required to work towards these qualifications alongside this course.

 Please see entry criteria for A-Level study on page 12.

The course will expand your imagination and skills through workshops delivered by industry professionals, whilst getting full support for progression into higher education or the many varied roles within the photographic industry.

Successful completion of the course will give you the qualifications and skills required to progress on to a range of degrees or to go directly into industry.

There are so many great facilities available to all the students, more than I thought there would be!
